

THANK YOU

“Gramme Rocks” took wings all because of the kindness and generosity from the following people:

\*Tim, Melody, and all the residents at Glendale Gardens who unselfishly shared their fun times and deepest thoughts to make life better for the elderly throughout the world.*

\*Keith, Administrator at Glendale Gardens, approved and participated in this project out of love and respect for older people everywhere. Through his actions, the importance of staff participation in all aspects of residents' lives became abundantly clear.*

\*Catholic High School Principal Jeanne and her assistant Julie eagerly participated in this collection by making it come to life as an intergenerational community service effort for the students; all because they believe young people should learn the importance of respecting each season of life.*

\*Haylee Ball, Catholic High School student whose hopes and dreams for a career in the movie industry took flight through the creation of the Bocce Ball Video; a talent that was recognized by the New York Film Institute through an offer to participate in a summer camp for students.*

\*Dr. Doug McNeal, whose mission is always to locate games individuals dealing with physical challenges can play, possessed the vision of including the elderly because of dexterity restrictions brought on by the aging process. His wife, Susan, was always at his side in this project.*

\*Taylor Likes, Schweitzer United Methodist Church Media Specialist, served as a mentor for Haylee during the filming of various aspects of this project.*

\*All the volunteers that gave their time in serving the elderly in such a magnanimous manner.*

\*Nae, my website designer and friend, whose creativity and positive attitude bring every collection to life for people all over the world.*
